Dear Digital Concert Hall Audience,

what began as a bold idea has been reality for 15 years now: the Digital Concert Hall of the Berliner Philharmoniker is celebrating an anniversary season in 2023/24. 15 years sounds young, but technological progress during this time has been rapid – and the development of the Digital Concert Hall has not only kept pace but also continually introduced innovations. We are proud that our pioneering project has become the international model for video streaming in the field of classical music. And naturally, the success of the Digital Concert Hall is due above all to you, your love of music and your loyalty.

Boldness and self-realization also characterize the programme for our new season, which we will show in live stream as usual. Under the title “Heroes” the Berliner Philharmoniker will present music that depicts very different heroes and heroines – from Richard Strauss’s *Heldenleben, which chief conductor Kirill Petrenko will interpret at the opening concert of the season, to Ludwig van Beethoven’s Eroica, to broken heroes and heroines, such as those we encounter with Richard Wagner and in Strauss’s opera Elektra.

Artist in Residence Lisa Batiashvili will captivate you as an extremely versatile violinist, and the multit talented Composer in Residence Jörg Widmann will also appear as conductor and clarinet soloist. In addition to reunions with such star guests as Evgeny Kissin and Yuja Wang, you can look forward to debuts and young talents. Something new also awaits you during our anniversary season: you will experience members of the Berliner Philharmoniker up close in chamber music concerts.

Start the new season in the Digital Concert Hall with us as we look to the future with confidence. Here’s to many more years of the Digital Concert Hall, where we play just for you!
